6.2.1: The functioning of the institutional bodies is effective and efficient as visible from policies, administrative setup, appointment and service rules, procedures, deployment of institutional Strategic/ perspective/development plan etc

Our organisation firmly believes in democratic principles. As a result, the institution's administration is decentralised and participatory.

Strategic Strategy Points of View

To sustain consistent high academic performance

To design and implement an effective teaching-learning process.

To promote a research culture among academics and students

To create a comprehensive student mentorship and support structure, as well as to guarantee openness in the student assessment process.

To inform and empower academics about new trends in their field in order to grow academically.

To provide a courteous, efficient, and perfect administrative setup that ensures seamless day-to-day operations.

Deployment Methodology

Adopting the IQAC deployment strategy plan, i.e. the NAAC method, is being explored.

The following are the primary goals of such a procedure:

Maintaining high-quality standards in higher education

Making a Difference in National Development

Building necessary competences among college students

Instilling a Value System in Pupils

Using ICT to support teaching and learning.

encouraging the development of research-based faculty teaching and student learning materials

Putting emphasis on institutional deployment strategy

Enhancing infrastructure and giving access to it

Hiring the finest teaching staff who embody and contribute to the NAAC-recommended criterion compliances to the greatest extent feasible

Enhancing access to academic, research, co-curricular, and extra-curricular activities

Instilling a rigorous culture of activity performance with documented evidence

Increasing and increasing access to ICT infrastructure

Allowing academic independence and flexibility while monitoring university affiliation and NAAC compliance processes

Creating document-driven processes in accordance with the academic calendar, academic, examination timetables, workload assignment, and resource allocation documents, as well as the relevant event and action schedules

Management that is self-regulated, values event performance, and takes vacations and leaves.

Distinguishing and identifying the nature of teaching and non-teaching events and activities, as well as their efforts.
